

COOKIE POLICY.

What is a cookie

Cookies are small files that are saved and stored on your computer, tablet or smartphone when you visit websites. A cookie usually stores the name of the website from which the cookie came, the lifespan of the cookie and a unique identifier of a browser redirecting to the website.

Cookie Policy

In making available the content of www.inpro.ee website we use cookies, i.e. the information saved by the servers on the user's device that can be read by the servers whenever you connect from this user's device, and which can also use other technologies with features similar or identical to cookies. In this document information on cookies are also applicable to other similar technologies used within our websites. Cookies are the computer data, in particular text files that are stored on the device of the user of www.inpro.ee website. Cookies typically contain the name of website domain from which the cookies came from, their storage time on user's device and a unique number.

We use cookies to:

- A. Adapt the website page content to user preferences and to optimize the use of the websites; in particular cookies allow us to recognize the website user's device and properly display a personalized web page,
- B. prepare statistics which help us to understand how the website users use web pages, which allows us to improve their structure and content,
- C. maintain the website user's session (after logging in), thanks to which the user does not have to re-enter the login and password on each subpage of the website,

Inpro Insurance Broker OÜ-s www.inpro.ee website uses the following types of cookies:

1. "necessary" cookies, which allow the user to use the services available on the website, e.g. authentication cookie files related to website services requiring authentication,
2. cookies used to ensure safety, e.g. to detect malpractices in terms of the website authentication issues,
3. cookies allowing to collect the information on the usage of website,
4. "functional" cookies allowing the website to "remember" user's preferences and customize the user's interface, e.g. in terms of user's language or region, font size, website layout etc.,

Frequently, the software intended for browsing the websites (the web browser) allows for storing the cookie files on the user's device by default. Website users can change the cookie settings at any time. Specifically, the web browser allows the website user to change the settings in order to block the automatic use of cookies or to alert the users every time the cookies are sent to their devices. More information on the possibilities and methods of managing the cookie files is available in web browser settings. Not changing the cookies settings means that cookie files will be stored on the user's device. This in turn means that we will store information on the user's device and access the information from the device as well. Disabling the use of cookies may make it difficult to use certain services available on our websites, in particular those requiring logging in. Disabling cookies does not mean that you will not be able to access and browse content available on www.inpro.ee website, except for cases where logging in is required.

Cookies may be stored on the www.inpro.ee website user's device and used by advertisers, research companies and multimedia application providers working with the service.
